Looking for producer

Description:

There are two things people often combine with their sofa: side tables and lamps. As the name of the product already reveals, the idea of this concept is to combine both: one leg of the tables metal base is shifted outward and emerges to a lamp.

Using a gooseneck covered with a rubber tube, the light can be moved around but still looks like simply emerging from the base of the table. A small gap in the lampshade releases a thin light as a counterpart to the actual light cone.

With Sidelight the beautiful things you arrange on your side table get a stage and a spotlight to be presented even more impressively. This piece of furniture offers flowers, magazines and other nice things enough space on the tabletop and literally highlights them.
